
default value for exception for recurring events

Posted by the falcon - 2013/04/09 03:11

It is a minor issue but I run into it from time to time while using a bunch of recurring events and want to hide them if I don't attend them.

What happens? (minimal setup)

I create a weekly recurring event.

I open the event in the event list, open the tab Recurrence.

The text field for the Exception dates contains the current date even if I openend an event some days in the future.

I open the same event in the calender, open the tab Recurrence.

The text field for the Exception dates contains the date the event occurs.

Is it possible to change the behavoir when opening the event via the event list?

Thanks & Thanks for all the good work on this wonderful software

Robert

Sure. That sounds more logical. I'll fix it.
