
Task list categories when using a Google Calendar?

Posted by hb1547 - 2013/04/14 14:41

Is there any way to have a task list that syncs with Google's task list, but also contains categories? I don't need the categories to sync with Google, so long as they're there on Rainlendar.

Currently I have a Google calendar whose task list I use, but whenever I try to add items to it via Rainlendar, the category dropdown is disabled.

Is there any workaround for this?

Unfortunately that is not possible. Rainlendar doesn't keep any information about the tasks locally so the category information would have to be written into the tasks and sent to the server. And at the moment Google Tasks do not support any kind of metadata that could be attached to the tasks.
