
Google Task alarms

Posted by GrouchyGaijin - 2013/05/25 05:05

Is there a way to set alarms for Google tasks in Rainlendar2?

When I create a new task on my iPhone I can set a reminder time for the task.

When I choose Due Time for new tasks made in Rainlendar2, the time seems to get lost.

That is on the Rainlendar2 calendar, the task appears on the day, but there is nothing about a due time (it shows 0:00) nor is there anything about getting a reminder to do the task.

I am also not able to set a start time or a priority. Those fields are grayed out.

Is that a problem with Google? Is it because I'm on a Linux machine?

Thank you,

GG

Re: Google Task alarms

Posted by Rainy - 2013/05/28 12:16

It's not possible to store the information from the disabled fields to Google Tasks since it doesn't support them. I can enable the fields in the future if Google ever decides to improve their support for tasks.
