
[Solved] Is it possible auto close MessageBox ?

Posted by anoob - 2013/06/23 04:31

I use Rainlendar_Message() to display some information.

Is it possible to make it auto disappeared at few second later ?

Or, have any other way can do the similar work ? and does not need to create a window(skin).

=====

Re: Is it possible auto disappeared MessageBox ?

Posted by Rainy - 2013/06/26 02:31

It's not possible to close the messagebox directly from Rainlendar but you could try some 3rd party tool which is able to send window messages. Sending the WM_CLOSE to the window should close it. If you need non-Windows specific solution then you probably have to create a skin window and show the information in it.

=====

Re: Is it possible auto disappeared MessageBox ?

Posted by anoob - 2013/06/26 04:29

Thank you, after thought, I think of ways: the use of the alarm window.

In other words, create a temporary event, content to be displayed, with the alarm, wait a few seconds and then delete this temporary event.

You can try this : <http://customize.org/rainlendar/skins/65669520> to see what I do.

=====