
Setting deadline date = none

Posted by saberl - 2013/06/24 09:33

Hi,

I use Rainlendar for showing my Remember the Milk tasks on my desktop and marking them as done and for creating new tasks. But all tasks that I edit or create on Rainlendar get a due time (00:00 default) and not only a due date. I want to set due time to null on most of the tasks I create, since a due time in Remember the Milk means I get a reminder. And I don't want that at midnight for half of my tasks.

Is it possible? Now I have to edit the tasks I create in Rainlendar in RTM every time.

=====

Re: Setting deadline date = none

Posted by Rainy - 2013/06/26 02:35

Currently that's not possible as Rainlendar will always set also the due time for the tasks. I'll see if it would be possible to make it optional.

=====

Re:Setting deadline date = none

Posted by saberl - 2013/06/26 14:23

Okay. Then I know. Thank you!

=====