

---

Multiple categories

Posted by bee2see - 2013/07/17 14:24

---

I've just found, that it's possible to use multiple categories for the entry: they just should be listed with semicolon separator. They are visible in the "Manager" window, filtering is possible and so on. It's very convenient!

However, when the event is edited after this, only the first category appears in the edit window. How it's possible to stay the multiple categories in the "Edit Event" window?

=====

Re: Multiple categories

Posted by Jorge_Luis - 2013/07/17 16:01

---

Options -> Advanced -> Allow multiple categories -> Check

This option will allow you to select multiple categories but you will not see the preview icon.

=====

Re: Multiple categories

Posted by bee2see - 2013/07/18 02:31

---

Thank You, that's exactly what I needed!

=====

Re:Multiple categories

Posted by iho - 2014/03/07 09:23

---

filtering categories is possible bee2see says, but I'm not able to do it. I want to see tasks with only one special outlook-category in the today-window. How can I manage? I created a category with the same name as in outlook in the skin and choose the category as a standard-category in the option-window - but this doesn't filter the task - I can still see them all.

=====

Re:Multiple categories

Posted by Rainy - 2014/03/07 09:45

---

You can filter the events that are shown in the today window if you add the name of the category to the "Included categories" in Windows->Settings->Today.

=====

Re:Multiple categories

Posted by iho - 2014/03/07 10:14

---

Perfect! Thanks for the fast answer!

=====