
rainlander refuses to store new event

Posted by pozzo - 2013/09/11 07:24

rainlander is not keeping a new event after creation

if I create a new event on Google Calendar it reflects well in Rainlander any help?

Hi Pozzo,

Maybe this is related to the issue i posted e bit earlier.

Apart from the upload problem, I notices that when i create e new event in rainlendar it wll show up in rainlendar for a fraction of a second, then it disappears from rainlendar;it does however not show up in the gogle calendar and there are no error messages neither from google nor from rainlendar.

If i create a new event in the google ca;ender it wil show up perfectly on the rainlendar desktop calendar.

But i have no solution.

Jelle

I have the exact same problem.. I try to create a new event, it shows up for a fraction of a second and then dissapears without an error message. Almost made me miss an important meeting..

Never had any issues whatsoever with rainlendar in the past. Using Pro on windows 7 64 bit Hope this gets fixed!

Exactly the same problem. I've been using Rainlendar for many years and never seen this problem. It can read Google new events and display them. It can delete an event already on google cal, but it can't Send a new event to google.
please help.

Please upgrade to the latest beta version and see if that fixes the problem. The beta also has support for the "Google Calendar (v3)" so try that as well. If the beta doesn't work either please run Rainlendar in the debug mode and send the debug log to Rainlendar's support address and include a link to this forum thread.

OK

The Beta Version Windows 64bits worked fine!

Thanks

Nice. Thx for the fast response, Rainy.
Love this little piece of software.
