
Google Calendar with Same Names

Posted by Zhu8 - 2013/09/26 03:31

I have 4 calendars,They are all named Manchester United in Google calendar,because it's public calendar of it's fixtures.It can only sync ONE calendar?
and I renamed it in Google Calendar,it's still show the original name.
sorry for the poor english. :P <http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/images/fbfiles/images/c.png>

Yes, ONE rainlendar calendar only sync ONE (web) calendar, but you can create many calendars on rainlendar to sync different (web) calendars.

and I renamed it in Google Calendar,it's still show the original name.

Rainlendar will not automatically update the calendar name, please re-create it. (delete the old one then create the new one again)

I use another public calendar to replace it,but I hope it will be fixed next time.I think it's because the rule of choising calendar names.

Yes, it seems like you said:

it can only read one of , if them with same name.

However, if I create two new calendars with same name, both them can be read.

At present, we can only expect author to solve this problem and wait.

At the moment Rainlendar identifies the calendars by the name so it's not possible to have multiple calendars with the same name. I have a backlog item to fix this problem in the future versions.
