
Disappears from Win 7 Desktop

Posted by phrelco - 2013/09/28 12:37

Rainlender disappears from my Win 7 64 Desktop when accessing the Desktop via the "Show Desktop" button located at the right side of the Taskbar when other windows are open and active. If I go to the Desktop by minimizing open windows, Rainlender is there and stable.

Hitting refresh (right click Desktop) doesn't do anything. If I click on the Rainlender Taskbar icon, it will show until I once again click on the Desktop, a file, or a shortcut on it, it will disappear again. This doesn't happen when minimizing active and open windows. This is frustrating to me as I rely on the Desktop shortcut button heavily, as I usually have several programs open, plus various files and folders. :S I have 12 gigs of RAM on a Win 7 64 bit machine with plenty of RAM left over.

You need to set the window position to "On Desktop" from Rainlendar's settings.
