

---

Tray icon click to show/hide calendar?

Posted by kzinnato - 2013/11/09 09:22

---

I have been using R2 for a year now and I was using it in transparency mode, so as I moused over the bottom right of my screen the calendar would appear (and if I mouse over slightly higher I get the todo list to show up similarly).

That is working fine but I would like to change it now as follows:

I would like the calendar and todo list to show up on my screen when I click the systray icon and to go away when I click the systray icon again. This would seem like something that is able to be done but after 20 minutes of playing with the options I am giving up and asking you, dear forum, if this is in fact able to be done and if so what combination of the options must I select?

If this is not able to be done, I guess I will continue to live with mouseover.

I absolutely love this program. I was more than happy to pay for it and consider it to be one of my better investments!

=====

Re: Tray icon click to show/hide calendar?

Posted by Jorge_Luis - 2013/11/09 14:46

---

This can be done with hotkeys. See this answer:

www.rainlendar.net/cms/index.php?option=com\_kunena&Itemid=42&func=view&catid=3&id=19200

=====

Re: Tray icon click to show/hide calendar?

Posted by kzinnato - 2013/11/09 15:59

---

wow .. a quick, accurate answer! That is a rarity these days.

Between the author and the forum, I have to rate this one of the best supported products I have ever used. I am an IT professional and it takes a lot to impress me. I am VERY impressed with this software!

Thanks to Jorge_Luis and to Rainy.

=====