
Newbie questions

Posted by rigido - 2013/12/09 03:40

Hi,
after some weeks with Railendar free I bought the Pro version to update online Google calendar.
The first problem I had is with proxy settings, I work as a consultant so I change internet settings every time I change customer (actually using Lenovo Connection Manager) and I would really appreciate if Railendar could use "System Settings" for the Proxy settings.
Then I installed Railendar on the home computer too (iMac 27", hope I could do that :blush:) and I needed a bigger Shadow4 (grid) calendar...but the "BIG" is too big. So i searched and discovered that Railendar uses bitmap and the "scale" option is useless as quality decay in an unacceptable way.
Is bitmap the only way for Railendar? There are other "grid" calendars out there?

That's all...by now :)

Thanks.

=====

Re: Newbie questions

Posted by Rainy - 2013/12/12 10:07

Not all skins use bitmaps. For example the calendar in Savannah skin can be resized without loss of quality (Windows->Settings->Calendar).

=====