
Satisfied Customer

I just got Rainlendar Pro and it's a nice addition for my desktop. Along with rainmeter my desktop is looking nice. I have Rainmeter on the left side of my screen and I have been searching for something for the right side and Rainlendar is perfect.

I think I remember you from Litestep back in the day. I remember your modules were the best. I especially liked rainamator I think it was called. I had this awesome animation effect in the middle of my desktop. It took a lot of resources because all the bmp images I used but man it looked so good.

also...

The search forum box is covered up by the sale tag and I am unable to do a quick searches. When I click inside the search box it takes me to the purchase page.

Ah, Litestep. That was a long time ago :-)

The search box should be now clickable again even though the sale tag still overlaps it. I'll try to do something about it when the next sale comes...
