
TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by dwilbank - 2014/01/27 11:19

Good sirs:

Suddenly I am unable to select a calendar to add TODO items to.
(same as adding a new task)

The pulldown list is just empty.

My EVENT LIST, however, is working fine. I can add events to any of my google calendars.

What's going on?

Thanks

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by geist88 - 2014/01/27 12:12

I am having a similar issue with x64 Pro (v2.12.1 b137). I just upgraded from a prior version this morning.

I have created a google tasks calendar and have preserved my original google calendar.

- a.) The events from google show up on Rainlendar.
- b.) Events appear synced in my google account.
- c.) Tasks appear synced in my google account.
- d.) Tasks do not appear in Rainlendar. (ToDo list has "No tasks"
- e.) Rainlendar Manager has tasks/events as per Gmail account.
- f.) Have Google Calendar and Google Tasks calendar set to display and sync regularly.

Is there some fix to this so I can see my ToDo tasks locally? Any help would be much appreciated.

Thanks.

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by Rainy - 2014/01/28 11:50

@dwilbank, The list is empty if you don't have any calendars enabled which can write tasks. Which calendar you are normally using for your tasks?

@geist88, if you can see the tasks in the manager window it can mean that you don't have any active tasks. Go to the window's settings and check that none of the "Hide * tasks" settings are not enabled. Check also that the todo window doesn't have any include or exclude filters.

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by geist88 - 2014/01/28 13:49

There was a filter set somehow on the new Google Tasks Calender. It was pointing to the original calendar that I used in the prior version.

Going to Right Click > Options > Skins > Settings (ToDo List) > Window Settings > Filters and resetting what was included/excluded fixed it.

Potential Bug between updates?

Thanks for the help.

=====

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by dwilbank - 2014/01/28 14:00

I use one called Tasks - and it worked until fairly recently (the update?)

I'm attempting to attach a picture... http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/images/fbfiles/images/Clipboard_Image.jpg

=====

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by Rainy - 2014/01/29 09:41

@dwilbank, there have been changes how the Google tasks are handled in Rainlendar. Try to create the calendar again.

=====

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by dwilbank - 2014/01/29 17:38

I created a Tasks2 calendar and TODO LIST still refused to see it.

In the meantime I have the Any.Do widget floating on my desktop to show me my tasks.

If things have changed with Rainlendar tasks, could we get a up-to-date instruction list?

Also, any chance of readying any.do tasks in the future or are they all encrypted and proprietary?

Thanks

=====

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by Rainy - 2014/01/30 11:12

Can you run Rainlendar in the debug mode and send the debug log to me? I can check why the tasks are not shown. Please disable all your other calendars except the "Tasks2" so that the log doesn't contain any unnecessary information.

Any.do looks something that I could support in Rainlendar but unfortunately they don't seem to provide any API to access the events.

=====

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by GeoHunter - 2014/02/24 01:52

At me too most. The measures given above didn't help. The calendar Google is registered, at event addition everything is good, and it is impossible to add a new task - the calendar isn't chosen and the revealing list is empty.

I apply a screenshot.

Yours faithfully Oleg! http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/images/fbfiles/images/_____.JPG

=====

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by Rainy - 2014/02/24 11:57

GeoHunter, the problem that you have is that there are not calendars configured which accept tasks. You need to add a new calendar (e.g. "Google Tasks") in Options->Calendars.

=====

Re:TODO LIST - no target calendar has been selected

Posted by GeoHunter - 2014/02/24 18:34

Thanks, everything turned out... a little bit I didn't conjecture!

=====