

---

event presets

Posted by Ace_NoOne - 2006/11/01 09:11

---

Hiya,

While entering my friends' birthdays in Rainlendar, I realized that I kept going through the same steps over and over again - setting the recurrence to "yearly" and the alarm to "14 days in advance".

It'd be nice if there were presets (probably best determined the selected category) that would fill in such things automatically.

This would not only increase comfort, but also ensure consistency (e.g. all birthday reminders set to 14 days in advance).

Post edited by: Ace_NoOne, at: 2006/11/01 09:11

---

Re:event presets

Posted by Rainy - 2006/11/01 13:53

---

That could cause strange situations if you select multiple categories for an event but I'll keep this in mind.

---

Re:event presets

Posted by Ace_NoOne - 2006/11/01 13:58

---

Haha, until now I didn't even know you could select multiple categories...

But the auto-fill should just be a suggestion anyway; the user could still alter the values for the particular task/event. So if there's more than one category selected, maybe the last-selected one overrides any previously selected category's setting. That wouldn't cause trouble then I guess.

---