
Today window

Posted by magus - 2014/03/18 08:12

Hi,

Is it not possible to get the Today window open at start by default?

Thankyou

=====

Re: Today window

Posted by anoob - 2014/03/18 10:21

Have you already activate Today window from "Available skins" to "Active skins" ?

=====

Re: Today window

Posted by magus - 2014/03/18 10:44

Yes I did, but it doesnt appear as the rest of the windows it appears in a separate list, with their own icon. In the list of windows I have to click on it to make it appear, but when I close and start again the program the window is not activated.

=====

Re: Today window

Posted by anoob - 2014/03/18 13:06

Sorry, because my english is poor, so I need more time to understand your description, and to think how to reply.

It should not happen. Are you using the latest version 2.12.2 ?

Is it showing on main context-menu ? like below image:

http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/images/fbfiles/images/2014_03_19_1.png

Oh, did you have check "Hide list windows if there are no items", at Options>>General ? Uncheck it.

=====

Re: Today window

Posted by magus - 2014/03/18 13:19

Yes, I am using version 2.12.2.

Yes it is showing like in your image. It is there, in that menu where I have to click to get the window.

"Hide list windows if there are no items" was checked, I have unchecked it, but remains the same.

=====

Re: Today window

Posted by anoob - 2014/03/18 13:29

Please restart program, not only refresh.

=====

Re: Today window

Posted by magus - 2014/03/18 13:33

This is what I do, close and start again the program. Even, I have restarted de computer...

=====

Re:Today window

Posted by magus - 2014/03/18 14:04

Now it is partially working.

I have checked, in the general menu, the option "Show today's events on tray when Rainlendar is started" that in the Spanish translation says literally ".. on the SYSTEM tray.." and now I have the Today window active at program start as well as the system tray notification that I dont like.

=====