
Shadow4.r2skin: opaque background for calendar?

Posted by Ace_NoOne - 2006/11/01 10:01

Hi there,

How can I add an opaque background image/color to the calendar window of the default skin (Shadow4)? I just want it to have the same background as the To Do and the Events list.

I've tried finding this out on my own, but couldn't figure it out yet...

PS: Are pre-2.0 Rainlendar skins 100%(!) compatible to Rainlendar2? If not, there should be a new category for Rainlendar2 skins only in the respective section of the website.

Post edited by: Ace_NoOne, at: 2006/11/01 10:01

Re:Shadow4.r2skin: opaque background for calendar?

Posted by bwdude - 2006/11/01 10:41

Hi,

I had the same question and it's answered here:

http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/index.php?option=com_joomlaboard&Itemid=27&func=view&id=105&catid=3

bw

Re:Shadow4.r2skin: opaque background for calendar?

Posted by Ace_NoOne - 2006/11/01 11:05

Oh, I didn't see that - thanks a lot!

So I simply added the following line to the CALENDAR.XML (inside the WINDOW tag):

```
<image id="Calendar.background" element="bitmap.background.tile" origin1="TOP-LEFT" x1="0" y1="0" origin2="BOTTOM-RIGHT" x2="0" y2="0" scaling="STRETCH" margins="0,0,0,0" />(using the already-existing element "background.tile" - it's not perfect, but sure does the job)
```

Post edited by: Ace_NoOne, at: 2006/11/01 11:07

Re:Shadow4.r2skin: opaque background for calendar?

Posted by he_the_great - 2006/11/01 15:39

PS: Are pre-2.0 Rainlendar skins 100%(!) compatible to Rainlendar2? If not, there should be a new category for Rainlendar2 skins only in the respective section of the website.

The skin section is done by customize.org, I have already sent them an email letting them know of this.

Re:Shadow4.r2skin: opaque background for calendar?

Posted by Ace_NoOne - 2006/11/01 15:59

Oh, cool - please let me know when/whether they responded.
