

---

tag description in the help file

Posted by alaninoz - 2014/06/30 18:30

---

Hi:

I've been hacking the Shadow4 skin to make it look better on high resolution laptop displays - it's too small for me on a 17" laptop at 1080p. I based my hack on "large_calendar.xml" and it all seems to be working at least to my satisfaction.

When changing things, though, I noted an apparent inconsistency in the help file.

The description of the `tag` says that it has `as` as a parent and that it has no attributes. However in the "today.xml" file in the Shadow4 skin the `tag` doesn't have a parent and it does have attributes. Further, in the "today.xml" file its behaviour doesn't seem to match that given in the help file.

This isn't really a problem for me as, as I said, the hacked skin is doing what I want. More something that should be cleaned up eventually. Either that or my understanding of the descriptions isn't as good as I think.

=====

Re: tag description in the help file

Posted by Rainy - 2014/07/01 11:36

---

There are actually two `elements`. This probably causes problems with the documentation since it is automatically created and cannot separate the two. I'll need to change one of them...

=====

Re: tag description in the help file

Posted by alaninoz - 2014/07/01 17:34

---

Thanks for the prompt reply. Any chance of a quick description of the attributes of the `tag` that has attributes?

=====

Re: tag description in the help file

Posted by Rainy - 2014/07/04 09:56

---

It has the same attributes as `except` the "id" which it doesn't have at all.

=====

Re: tag description in the help file

Posted by alaninoz - 2014/07/07 02:32

---

Thanks, that's good enough for me.

=====