OK, so this must belong in the `dimwit' section... but can anyone tell me how I would know if I have already purchased rainlendar?... I got it in my head that I did sometime ago.

The `About' dialog does not reveal one way or the other, far as I can tell.

If you have installed the license the about dialog will show your name as the licensee. If you have purchased the license but do not have it you can get the license email resent to you from here:
