

---

default database location

Posted by exwt - 2007/02/25 10:41

---

i've installed a new operating system lately (on an other hard drive) an i wanted to migrate my old event database to my new installation directory (both times i've choosen portable instalation. but i can't find a *.ics file in the directory. so where does rainlendar save its default database?

=====

Re:default database location

Posted by Rainy - 2007/02/26 09:15

---

If you do a portable installation the Default.ics file is stored into the installation folder.

=====