
Todo list bug

For starters - thanks a lot for this app! It's great.

I'm a major fan of the possibility to set todo tasks as recurring. There are two problems, though:

- when I set a recurring todo-task to completed, it goes away nicely and a new one pops up for the next time. It is, however, already set to completed, which it obviously shouldn't be.
- again, when I set a todo-task to completed, it goes away as it should ... but if you set it to completed on the same day as it should reoccur (if you're very late with it, obviously), it will go away, along with the reoccurring one. In other words, it will skip one todo-task.

Problem 1 seems to me a bug that should just be fixed - problem 2 is perhaps more a question of having a setting for the todo-items so that one could use the functionality of now or the one proposed here, as one sees fit.

The task is the same one so it's in the same state as when dismissed. I'll try to figure out a fix at least for the first problem.
