
Hiding events from popups and even list

Posted by denmarks - 2007/03/12 15:45

A prior version of Rainlendar that I had allowed categories to be set up that could be defined as not to appear in either popups or event lists. That does not seem to be available. For example, I have an alarm at 3:30 pm every day. I do not wish it to clutter up the popups or event list. It there still a way the achieve the event and calendar hide options?

I just noticed that it will be available in the next version. When will it be out of beta?

I'll probably have to release still couple of beta versions before the 2.1 is mature enough for release.
