
How to stop rainlender from rolling back?

Posted by maki - 2007/03/26 01:47

I'm using rainlender at work via my ext hdd.

everytime i exit rainlendar, whateva setting that was there earlier, disappears... including to do lists n events.

hw do i keep all my stuff in?

the program was installed in my ext hdd. so the .ini file is inside.

and no, i dun have admin rights

Re:How to stop rainlender from rolling back?

Posted by Rainy - 2007/03/27 12:13

Start Rainlendar from the "Debug Rainlendar" shortcut in the application folder and check the list of paths from the log file. If you did a portable installation all of them should point to your external HDD. Also check if there are any errors in the log which might show the reason for the problem.

Re:How to stop rainlender from rolling back?

Posted by maki - 2007/03/27 21:14

Rainy wrote:

Start Rainlendar from the "Debug Rainlendar" shortcut in the application folder and check the list of paths from the log file. If you did a portable installation all of them should point to your external HDD. Also check if there are any errors in the log which might show the reason for the problem.

i asked some of my IT frenz about it, they said its cos of the registry key thingy

I tried a reinstall last night, at home.

There's no log file in the hdd when i looked at the folder.

There use to be 1 before i reinstall the program

:(:(:(

Re:How to stop rainlender from rolling back?

Posted by Rainy - 2007/03/28 12:48

Rainlendar doesn't store anything to registry.

Check if the log is in C:/Documents and Settings//.rainlendar2 folder. If it is, you need to move the files to Rainlendar's application folder.

Re:How to stop rainlender from rolling back?

Posted by maki - 2007/04/04 02:11

Rainy wrote:

Rainlendar doesn't store anything to registry.

Check if the log is in C:/Documents and Settings//.rainlendar2 folder. If it is, you need to move the files to Rainlendar's application folder. found the log file... but when i opened rainlendar, i get this error msg sayin uable to open rainlendar2.log or sth...

=====

Re:How to stop rainlender from rolling back?

Posted by Rainy - 2007/04/04 11:35

Was the log in your Documents and settings folder? Can you attach it?

=====

Re:How to stop rainlender from rolling back?

Posted by maki - 2007/04/04 21:49

Rainy wrote:

Was the log in your Documents and settings folder? Can you attach it?the log's in my hdd...

there's nth much inside besides the error in width or sth for the event list...

will attach it later tonight cos i dun have it now (its gmt+8 over here)

=====