
Rainmeter?

Posted by elfurbe - 2007/09/04 20:38

Wondered what the status of Rainmeter is these days? I'm attempting to use it on Vista, but it's causing some excessive CPU load and I don't really know what the deal is, which made me wonder if there was any support for it anymore. I'm assuming not, but a guy can dream, right?

That project is on hold since I don't have any time for it at the moment.

Good to know, at least. Here's hoping you find time, I miss it already.

Dear all,

I know Rainmeter is on hold, and totally unsupported. But I was wondering whether anyone had problems with rssweather.com feeds recently? I just redesigned my rainmeter skin to provide selected weather information for sailing this summer. Worked wonderfully.

I suspect rssweather.com has changed feeds / urls, because recently the weather feeds stopped, and regardless of what I try to do with the urls etc - I cannot get any information on the weather box on rainmeter.

If any user out there has found out how to connect the xml feed to rainmeter, I would very much appreciate a hint.

ok

I thought it was just me but my Rainmeter has also stopped working. I hate switching to another widget but I had to because I could not get Rainmeter to work anymore. :S

If anyone has any idea how to get rainmeter to work with rssweather (or any other sensible weather server for that matter), it would be greatly appreciated.

Here's a config I'm using at the moment. It reads the weather information from weather.com and seems to be working still. You probably have to tweak it a bit to get it to work correctly. The config uses Stardock's weather icons so I didn't include them. <http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/images/fbfiles/files/Weather.ini>

Snow in Tampere now, huh? But this is good, I get the feed, and it works. Found the location code, will need to see whether I can get some useful info. Thanks.

Seems 2TONE skin draws weather from MSN and appears to work. However, no wind / pressure information (but pretty neat forecast).

IF anyone should feel inclined to make a new skin with really detailed weather, it seems to me the weatherfeed from yr.no is pretty detailed and tidy...

Oslofjord:

Tampere:

http://www.yr.no/place/Finland/L%C3%A4nsi-Suomen_L%C3%A4%C3%A4ni/Tampere/forecast.xml

ok

Anyone have an idea what changed at weather.com? None of my .ini files work anymore where all used to. I tried the weather.ini from the top of this thread and it came up empty as well.

Is there another service that would offer wx as an rss feed for Indianapolis and New York?

Thanks in advance,

Lance

Hello!

I got the same problem. Anybody manage to solve it in the meantime? I couldn't figure out what exactly is the problem so that weather-data isn't shown anymore ... I'd really love to get back my rainmeter, so if anybody has got any suggestions, please tell us!

Regards

ecsi

Here's a fixed weather config for the rssweather.com. <http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/images/fbfiles/files/Tampere.ini>

Hi Rainy!

Thank you very very much! It's working again! :-)

Thank you very much for this little program and for providing the file to make it work again!

Greetings

xsi

Rainmeter is a Windows application and cannot be compiled in Linux.
