
Ballon tooltips behind calendar

Posted by konrad - 2006/11/06 11:23

Hi, folks!

I've a sporadic strange behavior: The balloon tooltips for the events of the calendar and also the events list (I don't use "to do") sometimes appear behind the calendar or event list graphics. Without restarting or resetting rainlendar (except for the hourly server poll), they appear behind for some time, and when I check later, they're in front again. This happens for the positions "on desktop", "background", and "normal", but not for "always on top".

Is it maybe a "indefinite" priority setting somewhere or a bug?

Konrad

Re:Ballon tooltips behind calendar

Posted by he_the_great - 2006/11/06 19:19

You must be in windows. I know that this was a problem during the beta testing under linux, but it was "fixed" and I didn't hear anything about windows.

Re:Ballon tooltips behind calendar

Posted by konrad - 2006/11/07 03:09

Yes, that is for windows. Strangely, up to now I never experienced this on my desktop computer, only on the notebook. Konrad
