
Windows Vista

So far it seems to work under VISTA. I would like to see it become a side bar item in place of just a desktop item.

At first I had trouble getting it to work, I had to find the msvcr71.dll from my xp install move it to the system32 folder in vista now it works so far.

Thanks
Richard

Usually these sidebar thingies don't work very well if the application has several windows. I'm also not sure if it's even possible to put an application to the Vista sidebar.
