b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by pluto2 - 2007/11/04 15:55
_____

simple: right click a day with an entry in a google calendar (may affect all calendar types), choose to edit the entry, change something press OK, the next time you right click a day, there is no submenu, it's completely empty. I had 2 entries that particular day I might add.

Quite annoying, have to go back, too bad, I liked the new ver ;(

Kristian

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by Rainy - 2007/11/06 12:55
_____

Does it happen always? I noticed it once but after that I haven't been able to reproduce the problem.

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by pluto2 - 2007/11/06 13:28
_____

well here it happened several times during one short session, it was VERY frequent! After editing a google calendar event, even after creating an google event once, I didn't have to do much before I hit the bug! kind of strange that you don't see it too often!

I have 2 google calendars active if that's the difference, I don't know what would else be the difference. I unzipped the beta right over the old version if that may be the reason?!

Kristian

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by Rainy - 2007/11/06 14:23
_____

It might have been caused by the resource leak that I just fixed. Let me know if this still happens in b50 (once it gets released).

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by pluto2 - 2007/11/06 15:11
_____

good, I'll try to remember to check it out when the new version arrives, I am watching the beta release thread so I should get an email when that happens.

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by pluto2 - 2007/11/11 15:35
_____

Latest beta version DOES NOT fix this problem, not at all, it's apparent right away. This is what I got:

Latest stable version installed.
Unzipping the latest beta ver ontop of the stable version.
Starting it, setting language back to swedish.
downloading r2skin-addon to get swedish in the default skin.

creating an entry at en empty day by doubleclicking, calling it test rightclicking this very same day, and the menu is gone already.

Kristian

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by Rainy - 2007/11/13 14:26
_____

I managed to reproduce the problem but only if I change the code so that the menu uses owner drawn items. I'm not sure what could cause this to happen without the code modification. Anyway, I'll try to fix the problem for the next build.

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by pluto2 - 2007/11/13 18:48
_____

Have you tried using SWEDISH as language? could that be the problem? Also note that I added the r2skin-addon to the beta build, is that compatible to the beta build? aswell as the swedish language of course which was there from the previous stable version. How about something like that?

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by Rainy - 2007/11/14 12:40
_____

Yes, I tried with Swedish and with some other languages but that didn't make any difference.

==

Re:b49 bug, quite big if you ask me
Posted by pluto2 - 2007/11/14 13:16
_____

that's weird really, what else can there be, I told you I am using 2 google calendars only and no "local" ones right? the only thing I can think of is that I may have a setting that causes the problem but that doesn't sound all too likely either. I know I have tooltip fade delay set to 0 which may be "weird" :P well we'll see if it'll work in the next beta.

==