look cool. the wire should be on top of the numbers though.
hint: works the same way as i have the gloss on top of the numbers in my Rewind skin.

Ah you used separate images sort of like layering it, where mines just one image as the background. I'm still trying to familiarize myself with the xml area of the skinning, the graphics aren't the problem it's the xml and then trying to "layer" or put the images where I want them.

Thanks for the hint though, much appreciated :)
