
Per Calendar setting and more

Posted by WDacgrs - 2006/11/14 03:32

It is a good idea to have per-calendar setting like that of Rainmeter which every calendar could have their own position option(on top, normal, etc.) since I want to have the clock always on top but the calendar always on desktop. :)

And, for the recurrence, changeable default exception dates lists is pleased to see as a core function!

Your rainlendar is wonderful, thx~

It's actually already possible to have per window settings. But you need to edit the rainlendar2.ini file directly. You can copy the settings you want to override from the section e.g. to the section.
