Dear Rainy ;)

If you ever get around to translate the Widgets, here's what it should be in Danish:

Countdown = Nedtælling

Photos = Billeder

RSS = RSS

TV = TV

Weather = Vejr

Thank You and now I will stop nagging about it :P

I updated the Danish images to the language pack.

I'll take the opportunity to translate the widget names to Portuguese (they're okay both for European Portuguese and Brazilian Portuguese).

Countdown = Contagem

Photos = Fotos

RSS = RSS

TV = TV

Weather = Tempo

No hurries, when you feel like translating them it's alright. On a related note, couldn't you release a pack of base images and instructions so that translators and authors of new widgets can do this on their own? This would spare you the mundane work of this kind. :)

Thanks. I'll add the images when the language pack gets updated the next time. I'll see if could release a template for the widget texts although I'm not sure if I'm allowed to distribute the font I'm using...

Cool!

Just state the name and we will... obtain it legally B)

(BTW it would be awesome if it was accessible from an anonymous filesharing website; but hey...)

Is it possible to update the german localization of the weather widget? Everything is working fine and as it supposed to be. Only the "Weather:" image on the top of the widget isn't translated to the german word "Wetter:". I know, it's a small issue, but I am a perfectionist and it makes me mad ;) I would be very pleased to see a german weather image in the next update.

Eventually you could upload a german image here, so I can add it manually as a quick fix? I am not very skilled with photoshop, I tried to edit it myself but it looks like sh*t with my skills :(

I added the download link to the language template to the first post in the addon thread. The language addon is also updated and it contains the German weather background now too.
