
Wrong URL in online calendar

Posted by Vuorenmaa - 2006/11/17 17:02

I tried to use network calendar (iCal Exchange). Everything went well and exactly as the help file says. Calendar was created in iCalx and the event appeared there.

But when I tried to add a next event, an error occurred.

A line in the log file says that the first event goes to "http://icalx.com/private/<username>/<calendarname>

But next events goes to http://icalx.comhttp://www.icalx.com/html/<username>/day.php?cal=<calendarname>

A little bit strange URL.

Both uploading and downloading gives the same error.

I'm not able to reproduce this. Icalx seems quite unreliable at the moment as I usually get just an error page when I try to download the calendar from it.

Does this happen always? Do you have any other network calendars enabled? When you download the calendar does the server return 302 or 301 error code about relocation (the log should show this)?

Could you try with the build 27 from the beta forum and see if it still has the same problem?

Yes. It happens every time. Next is part of log after I refresh Rainlendar.

```
00:42:50: <calendarname>: Downloading: http://icalx.com/private/<username>/<calendarname>
00:42:51: <calendarname>: Result: (0) 302 Moved temporarily.
00:42:51: <calendarname>: Downloading:
http://icalx.comhttp://www.icalx.com/html/<username>/day.php?cal=<calendarname>
00:42:53: <calendarname>: Result: (6) 0 Unknown error.
```

It is strange how the URL address is ok at first time, when calendar is created. But every time after that, the URL address is somehow mixed from two different addresses.

Other network calendars I have not yet tried. Version in use at the moment is 2.0 (b25).

You need to add the ".ics" to the calendar name or icalx will forward you to the html calendar. So, set the url like this:

<http://icalx.com/private/rainy/mycal.ics>

instead of

<http://icalx.com/private/rainy/mycal>

I think it works now. Thank you.
