
Off topic -> RainMeter

Posted by BaK - 2008/12/01 13:37

Hello

I am really sorry to bother you here with such a question, but I am not able to find any support somewhere else!

It is about RainMeter! :unsure: :blush:

So first, is there a forum dedicated to RainMeter that I am supposed to find?

In case of a negative answer to the previous question, here comes the real one: is RainMeter able to pilot VLC like it does with Winamp?

As Rainy says in the online manual:

WINDOW MESSAGE

This plugin can be used to send and receive information from other applications. It can send window messages to other applications and show the result. The plugin can be used for example to control Winamp or some similar media players.

So I guess it is supposed to work also with VLC. I would just like to be sure of that before trying to put my hands in the code. ;)

Thanx in advance for your help, and sorry again to ask such a question on this forum.

=====

Re:Off topic -> RainMeter

Posted by dragonmage - 2009/03/24 11:40

You'd probably have better luck asking at the vlc forums about what messages to send to vlc.

=====